FEATURED MINOR OF THE MONTH: LINGUISTICS

Jaycie Martin advises the Linguistics minor and says this minor is all about the scientific study of language, sound, the meaning of sentences, and more. A large part of this area of study looks at sociolinguistics, which involves the social aspects of language. The linguistics minor explores both the scientific and social side of language to interest both sides of the study. Jaycie says that a COMM major and LING minor would make a great pair because studying language can help you use your communication skills in a variety of different work fields as well as cultures. If you are interested in the Linguistics minor, there will be monthly meetings starting in the fall where you can meet with other linguistics students and faculty to preview the minor in an informal way over coffee and other refreshments. You do not need to be a declared minor to attend. You are also encouraged to take LING 201: Intro to Linguistics to get a preview of what the minor will be like as well!

Schedule a meeting with Jaycie on Wise Advising to learn more about the Linguistics minor!
